REPORT BY GENERAL MILES In Command at Santiago.

STORY OF WAR

The Commanding General Makes Clear Many Hitherto Unexplained Conditions and Apparently Fixes the Responsibility for Conduct of Campaign in Cuba and Porto Rico.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Major-General Nelson A. Miles has submitted to the secretary of war a report on the operations of the United States army in Cuba and Porto Rico. The report is the longest and most complete ever made by a commanding general. It contains a full and complete account of the campaign in Cuba and Porto Rico, and is a valuable contribution to the history of the war.

At the close of the great Civil war, the president had 100,000 veterans, who were equipped for war for the first time. The great object of the war was to train the army for the future. The report of General Miles shows that the army was not only trained, but that it was also equipped for the future. The report is a valuable contribution to the history of the war.
