I returned the call of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy this morning. Senator McCarthy was not available and as he had previously suggested, I called [redacted] U

I advised him that I had checked with the Department and the Department had suggested that it would be inadvisable for the Bureau to call at the Capitol for the purpose of going over the material received by Senator McCarthy concerning the list of State Department employees and suggested that in lieu thereof, [redacted] bring any pertinent material to the Bureau where it could be gone over with him to determine whether there were any matters of interest to the Bureau. U

[redacted] stated he would do this at the first possible opportunity and further, that he would advise Senator McCarthy of my call. U
